

El Gambito de Rey: 1. e4 e5 2.f4

MN David Rangel Tapia.

Gambito: Sacrificio realizado en la apertura, por lo general de un peón. El Gambito de Rey era el movimiento inicial preferido por los ajedrecistas románticos en el siglo XIX. Aunque actualmente se juega rara vez en los torneos de los Grandes Maestros, ha sido empleado por Bronstein, Spassky, Fischer y Nigel Short's. Este Gambito aparece por primera vez en la obra de Ruy López, en 1561. La idea es desviar al peón e5 para jugar d4 y a continuación montar un ataque en la columna f en cuanto se capture el peón f4. Esta agresiva línea de juego ha causado estragos durante muchos años a las figuras negras. Con el paso del tiempo sin embargo, sus inconvenientes han prevalecido sobre sus ventajas y ha ido quedando en desuso. Las negras han encontrado brillantes contrajuegos. Los sistemas defensivos de las negras se han reforzado y la apertura ha sido analizada muy a profundidad. Siempre hay algo nuevo. Alguna Novedad Teórica pronto será hallada. El Gambito de Rey es muy recomendado por los profesores, entrenadores y teóricos de ajedrez en el mundo, ya que desarrolla la visión combinatoria, la fuerza táctica, la capacidad del pensamiento para encontrar una reacción inmediata, la valoración de la posición en situaciones súper complicadas, el cálculo de variantes con una profundidad de por lo menos 20 plys que son equivalentes a 10 medios movimientos por cada jugador.

El Ataque Blackburne:

Este ataque busca explotar la apertura de la diagonal a7-g1. El rechazo a la captura del peón f4, evita una ofensiva rápida contra el Rey Negro, pero deja la iniciativa a las figuras blancas.

La Defensa Cunnigham.

Se menciona por primera vez en la obra El Noble Juego, de Joseph Bertin, publicada en Londres en el año 1735. La idea inicial era dar un jaque en h4 para impedir el enroque de las blancas. Luego apareció un segundo plan con el desarrollo del caballo en f6, seguido con el adelantamiento del peón a d5. Ambas líneas son correctas.
